

After Grenfell - Tens of thousands at risk from fire and cold.

“If we don’t get change through this, we never will” – Ishmael Francis-Murray, Grenfell campaigner and creator of ‘Failed by the State’

Join the campaign for Safe Cladding and Insulation Now (SCIN). Demonstration 1pm Weds 17th October outside Ministry of Housing Communities and Local Government, 2 Marsham Street, SW1P 4DF.

Followed by a House of Commons event hosted by Emma Dent Coad MP.

A Granville estate tower block without cladding or insulation last winter

After searing pressure from campaigners all over the UK, the government finally conceded £400 million to replace Grenfell-style cladding on tower blocks. Whilst this is a step toward justice, it is not enough to make buildings fire-safe, and does nothing for private tower blocks, student residences, buildings under 18 M high, schools, hospitals or workplaces.

There is every sign that only a few buildings will be fully re-clad before next winter - with works finished on one in ten public sector buildings since June 2017. Last winter residents left without cladding or insulation were freezing in their homes. More will face cold and damp this winter and the next, if nothing is done. Cold, like fire, kills.

Please like our Facebook page, follow us on Twitter @fuelpovaction. Check out fuelpovertyaction.org.uk - where you can find our Open Letter.

Don't hesitate to contact us at fuelpovertyaction@gmail.com.